

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the Netherlands. The prevalence of mental health problems has risen from 10% in 1980 to 15% in 1995 (Van den Broek et al., 2000). The prevalence of mental health problems is expected to continue to rise in the coming years (Van den Broek et al., 2000).

There are several reasons for this increase. One reason is that the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the general population. Another reason is that the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has increased. This is due to a number of factors, including a decrease in the stigma associated with mental health problems and an increase in the awareness of mental health problems.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the community. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the community. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the community.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the private sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the private sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the private sector.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the public sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the public sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the public sector.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the voluntary sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the voluntary sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the voluntary sector.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the government sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the government sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the government sector.

The increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are seeking help has also led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health professionals who are working in the non-profit sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of mental health services available in the non-profit sector. This has led to a corresponding increase in the number of people who are receiving help for their mental health problem in the non-profit sector.

Image Quality Test Pages Fax Cover Sheet

1959 Shawnee Rd. - Eagan, MN 55122
Phone: 651.452.5630 Fax: 651.452.5865
www.iotsolutions.com

Instructions:

1. Print out all 5 pages of the "testpages" document.
2. If you are able to see the defect on these pages please circle where it occurs
3. Fax over all of the pages back to IOT (651).452.5865

Date:

Attn: Possible Deffective Cartridge

Account Manager's Name: _____

From:

Name: _____

Company: _____

Phone #: _____

Printer Type (brand & model): _____

Number of Pages (including cover sheet): _____

Notes: _____

